

Friends

Do not spend major time with minor people. If there are people in your life that continually disappoint you, break promises, stomp on your dreams, too judgmental, have different values and do not have your back during difficult times...that is not a friend. To have a friend, be a friend. Sometimes in life as you grow, your friends will either grow or go. Surround yourself with people who reflect values, goals interests and lifestyle. When I think of any of my successes, I am thankful to GOD from whom all blessings flow, and to my family and friends that enrich my life. Over the years my phone book has changed because I changed for the better. At first you think you are going to be alone, but after a while new people show up in your life that make your life so much sweeter and easier to endure. Remember they used to say, "Birds of a feather flock together. If you are an eagle, do not hang around chickens...chickens cannot fly! I love the Lord and am thankful to Him for all that He does in my life, therefore, I want it to be known that "Yes!" I do love Jesus! He is my source of existence and my Savior. He keeps me functioning each and everyday. For without Him, I am nothing but with Him I can do all things. (Philippians 4:13)
